

John A. Volpe National Transportation Systems Center
Cambridge, Massachusetts
2024 AIA|DC Chapter Design Awards

The main entrance offers an intimate glimpse inside

On the eastern facade, vertical aluminum plates, shaped like the fins of an aircraft, shade the interiors

Looking toward the street from the top of the staircase

The offices, which receive the most daylight, offer a combination of open work areas and touchdown spaces